

CONSERVATION WALKS

along the banks of these streams, you are able to look across to Marazion an area protected because it is an important habitat for several rare birds including the Bittern, Woodlark and Nightjar. The grassland, which sometimes has pools of water, is rich in wildflowers during spring and summer. This picturesque walk takes you through these pastures into an area of wet woodland and past a seasonal pond. It will take approximately 20 minutes or can be linked to other paths in the area to make a longer route. Please keep dogs on a lead due to grazing livestock.
